NAEYC's 2017 Public Policy Forum

Calling All Texas AEYC Members

Every day, we work to prepare our next generation of leaders. We strengthen and support our children, families, educators and communities. We know exactly why an investment in early childhood education matters - and why early childhood educators are the key to success. And it is our job to make sure our new President, new Congress, and state legislators know it too.

Join Us for the 2017 Public Policy Forum

SECA Executive Director Search

An Announcement from the SECA Board of Directors

Beginning December 1, 2016, SECA will begin a search for the next Executive Director of the Association. Glenda Bean, our current Executive Director, has announced a retirement date of May 31, 2017 and we will be transitioning into new leadership on June 1, 2017. Applications will be accepted from December 1, 2016 to January 15, 2017 and finalists will be required to appear for interviews on Sunday, March 5, 2017 at the SECA conference that will be held in Biloxi, Mississippi. The job description as well as application criteria are available on the SECA website at www.southernearlychildhood.org.

We invite you to submit for initial consideration by the SECA Succession Committee. Final employment decisions will be made by the SECA Board of Directors. Questions concerning the process may be forwarded to Dr. Janie Humphries at Humphries@latech.edu or Kathy Attaway at kattaway@gmail.com.

Please feel free to forward this message to any colleagues that would be interested.
